MYSTERY SURROUNDED LIFE OF FORMER LAURIUM MAN

TWO WOMEN BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN MARRIED TO ALBERT DUTEMPLE.

The Marinette Eagle Star hints at a mystery in the life of Albert Dutemple, whose death occurred recently in a Menominee hospital, details of which were received last week by his widow in Laurium. Dutemple formerly resided in Laurium and previously, he made his home in Portage Lake town. The Marinette despatch follows:

Did Albert Dutemple who died at the St. Joseph's hospital in Menominee on August 28 have two wives? Were two women, one of them with him at the time of his death and the other at Laurium, Mich., who did not hear of the death until a day or two ago, both of the opinion that they were married to the man who died following a severe attack of appendicitis and an operation?

These are questions which are being asked by authorities in Marinette and Menominee this morning following the receipt of a dispatch from Laurium, saying that Mrs. Albert Dutemple, who was formerly Miss Alice Martin, had just received word of her husband's death in a Menominee hospital. The news of his death, the dispatch adds, was in some way delayed.

Wife Was With Him.
The reason why the woman at Laurium was not informed, it was learned at the hospital, was because the hospital authorities were not aware that there was a woman at Laurium that claimed to be Dutemple's wife, for there was a woman with him, who said she was married to him and who afterward went to Ashland, Wis.

The burial of the man who was a member of the Duluth Aerie of Eagles was made in Forest Home cemetery in Marinette under the auspices of the local Aerie lodge. Members of the local aerie were able to give the history of the case as they knew it this morning.

Dutemple came here on Saturday with the woman and they stayed at the Grant hotel. The next night Dutemple was taken seriously ill, and one of the employees at the hotel knowing that Dutemple was a member of the Eagles, summoned a physician who does work for the local lodge.

Taken to Hospital.
Dutemple was critically ill at that time and he was removed at once to the St. Joseph's hospital. He died August 28. The Marinette Eagle Aerie received a telegram saying that Dutemple was a member of the Duluth lodge in good standing and that his funeral expenses would be paid by the lodge, if the local order would bury him in Marinette. The funeral was held on Sept. 4.

The woman who was with him told people here at the time that they had been married in December, 1912. Dutemple had been a member of the Duluth aerie since November, 1913. She said that her home was nine miles from Ashland, and that she had been employed in a fur factory in the city of Ashland. She said that Dutemple had come to Marinette in search of work. IMPROVEMENT OF CONDITIONS

Gradual Betterment in U.S. Is Seen by Hayden, Stone & Co.

Events during the past week have moved rather slowly, and while there have been no very important developments one way or the other, there is discernible a gradual betterment of conditions and growth of optimism in financial circles.

The strength and activity of the sterling exchange market, in spite of the successful flotation of the $100,000,000 gold pool, was probably directly due to the shortage of exchange to meet October interest and dividend disbursements in London and Paris. It only goes to show, however, that the amounts which we as a nation owed abroad were larger than at first thought; and that it is perhaps better to make haste slowly than to look for a hurried and consequently unstable improvement.

The United States cannot be changed from a debtor nation to a creditor nation all at once. We are still greatly in debt to Europe, and since the first of the year, counting the gold actually shipped abroad, and the $100,000,000 gold fund now under negotiation, this country has furnished about $200,000,000 of reserve money for international uses. This has, undoubtedly, had a beneficial effect, not only in absolutely reducing our obligations, but also in creating a favorable sentiment, for as soon as it is known that we are prepared and willing to pay in gold, there will be less inclination to require gold in payment, and our creditors in Europe will be glad to take payment in the form of foodstuffs and manufactures.

Already some progress has been made in this direction. For the month of August the unfavorable balance of trade was the largest ever reported for that month, but during September there has been a very encouraging increase in exports from the port of New York. For the week ended September 26th they were 150 per cent greater than for week ended August 22nd, and for the four weeks ended September 26th the total was greater than during the same period in 1913. If the other big ports can approach the same record, there is some ground of hoping that September may even show a small excess of exports over imports. This is, perhaps, the most concrete evidence of recovery in general business which has yet presented itself and should aid materially in lowering the rate of foreign exchange.

Added to this is the fact that from now on the expenditures of Americans traveling abroad, which formerly constituted quite a drain tending to offset the balance due this country for merchandise exports, will probably prove an insignificant factor.

Re-Opening of Exchanges.
When the stock exchanges will again re-open their doors for unrestricted trading, it is still too early to say. There seems to be a growing demand that trading should be permitted on some basis. Many plans have been suggested with this end in view. But it is better that we should build slowly and thoroughly the foundations which will make for a safe and permanent resumption of commercial activity in all its forms. Two of the prime essentials for a re-opening of the stock exchanges are the demonstration of our ability to meet our debts abroad through merchandise exports rather than gold shipments, and the re-establishment of American railroad credit. The former appears to be in a fair way to being accomplished; and in regard to the latter, the Interstate Commerce Commission has agreed to hear again the petition of the eastern roads for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates, which practically assures the granting of an increase, and has this week permitted an advance in passenger mileage rate from 2 cents to 2 1/4 cents per mile. These evidences of a change from an attitude on the part of the commission of apparent hostility to the transportation interests should go a long way toward assuring the public that railroad investments are to be protected.

At times it may seem as though little or no real progress were being made, but it is well to remember that the present situation is entirely without precedent, and that all things considered, we are gradually forging ahead, and each day is bringing near the restoration of normal conditions.

BUTTE MINES ARE GUARDED BY ARMED MEN AND MACHINE GUNS; SEARCHLIGHTS IN USE

Companies Evidently Do Not Believe Labor Trouble Is Settled; "Committee of Safety," Like Citizens' Alliance, Is Organized

Butte, Mont., Oct. 5.—Labor conditions in Butte are quiet on the surface. Half of the 600 state militiamen are about to be withdrawn from Butte, and in a very short time, if there are no further outbreaks, the remainder will be sent home by the governor. That the mining companies and business men of Butte do not believe that the Butte labor situation has been permanently settled is evidenced by the fact that the companies for the first time in the history of Butte, are guarding their properties with armed men, machine guns and searchlights, and are engaged in building strong forces about their properties and mounting them with guard towers.

Citizens Organize.
A committee of safety has been organized by Butte business, laboring and professional men, between 300 and 400 of whom have signed this significant declaration of principles:

"We, the undersigned, citizens of the city of Butte, mindful of the extraordinary developments of the past ninety days and convinced that the time has come when men who respect the law and who believe in the maintenance of order and the dispensation of justice should assert themselves, hereby unite in common cause, for the enforcement of the law and for the protection of the lives and the property of the people of this community."

"The name of this organization shall be 'The Committee of Safety of the City of Butte.' The circumstances and conditions which compel the creation of this organization are, briefly, as follows:

"Our city, normally prosperous, peaceful and progressive, distinguished throughout the country as the mecca of the man who makes a living with his hands, has become the rendezvous for a lawless band composed of the most indolent and dangerous elements in American society.

Agitators Held Responsible.
"Professional agitators and self-seeking reformers, sowing seeds of anarchy and unrest, have insidiously secured control of our municipal government, and by the exercise and abuse of this authority have attracted a horde of lawless characters, who, seeking riot rather than wages, and foot rather than wages, have made it necessary for the governor of the state of Montana to declare this city in a state of insurrection, to place it under martial law, and to preserve the peace by the presence of armed troops.

"Therefore, we, the undersigned, the committee of safety of the city of Butte, hereby pledge ourselves to stand together for the restoration of peace and decency to this American city.

Like 'Citizens' Alliance.'
"Realizing that an overwhelming majority of the citizens of Butte are opposed to a continuation of crime and disorder, are greatly alarmed by the deeds of the lawless law breakers, who for the past three months, have soiled the good name of Butte, we hereby volunteer our services for the general welfare."

"We maintain that good citizenship consists in organizing for the protection of life and property which lawfully constituted officers have been unable or unwilling to protect.

"Representing no class or faction, composed of men from business, professional and labor circles, we will not tolerate the coercion of any citizen or the deprivation of his civil rights, but we will not interfere in the relations or agreements between employers and employees.

To Redeem Community.
"We pledge ourselves that, exercising our rights as American citizens, we hereby undertake to redeem this community from the rule of those things and criminals who flagrantly scorn the institutions of the United States, many of them never having sworn allegiance to our flag.

"We agree to abide by the rules and by-laws adopted by the executive committee of our organization.

"We pledge ourselves to answer the call when the peace of this community is imperiled and to be prepared to meet any situation that may arise and which may require those qualities of courage and determination characteristic of the best type of American citizenship."

MINING NEWS

TRIBUTE PLAN AT WINONA.

Small Number of Miners May Be Given Employment There.

Plans are on foot to resume operations at the Winona property on a limited scale. This work will not be undertaken by the company as an organization but by some of the best miners that worked for the Winona when it was operating. The details of the plans are not ready for publication as yet but Supt. Rex Secher is interested in the scheme as much for the benefit of the miners as for the good of the company. The plan is to put about thirty high grade miners at work in the upper levels, having the men work the property on tribute. In this way the company would be assured of an income, although limited, and would be put to no risk itself. It would have no capital involved. The men likewise would earn as much profit as their hard work and their good fortune in selecting rich stopes could combine to bring about. The miners are anxious to make the arrangements.

WOLVERINE AND MOHAWK.

Only Two Mines in the District Operating Full Time.

The only two mines in the Lake Superior district that are operating full time are the Mohawk and Wolverine mines of the Stanton group. The European war necessitated a cut in wages at these mines but they were, fortunately, fairly well sold up with their metal when the war started and have since made several good sized domestic sales at satisfactory prices. John R. Stanton, now the official head of the Stanton mines, having recently been elected to presidency to succeed the late Joseph E. Gay, was in the district this week. The Stanton mines will seven-eighths of their normal output to American consumers of copper and therefore, more fortunate than any other copper mines in the United States, in the present war dilemma. Wolverine mining operations now are confined to extraction below the fourteenth level.

LOOKING FOR A MILL.

Houghton Copper Plans to Treat Considerable Tonnage of Rock.

Houghton Copper is planning to mill a considerable tonnage of rock which can be turned into copper and later into cash if the proper arrangements can be made. There is a lot of very good looking rock ready for the mill at the Houghton Copper. Propositions have been made to two different interests to mill this rock. A short railway spur could be built to connect up with the Isle Royale railway extension to the Superior and thus find an outlet to any one of the various Calumet & Hecla subsidiary mills. And a short spur might be built to connect with the old Atlantic railway and thus find an outlet to the Michigan Smelting company's plant—the Copper Range plant.

Louis Gathmann, formerly of Chicago, invented the gun and shell used with such effect by Germans in Belgian fighting.
